Product Description

- Front Pillow Ball Upper Mount for the GR COROLLA BLITZ DAMPER ZZ-R.
- The front upper mount is converted to a pillow-ball structure allowing the front camber angle to be adjusted.
- By changing the front upper mount to pillow-ball, information from the road surface is directly delivered to the driver for enhanced response. Additionally, by adjusting the front camber angle, the alignment can be precisely dialed to improve traction.
- The range of tires and wheels which can be installed will be increased.
- Estimate Camber adjustment range : -5°20' to +0°00'.

Precaution during Installation

- Since the upper mount will become pillow-ball, noise from the suspension traveling over uneven surface will become more noticeable.
- Depending on the range of the camber angle, the metal panel above the upper mount will need to be cut and modified in order to adjust the damping force.
 - ※ Installation is possible without any modification to the panel. However, the panel will need to be removed in order to access the damping force adjustment dials.
- Compatible with DSC PLUS. However, in order to install the front upper mount the metal panel above the upper mount must be modified.
- When changing the upper mount, the suspension will need to be uninstalled and the length of the suspension will need to be readjusted.
- ※ Vehicle ride height adjustability will vary from the original upper mount.
